

Farmyard Dangers

Farmyards may look like exciting places to play, but they are full of hidden dangers. Can you match the dangers to the picture below?

A heavy load may fall from a fork-lift truck

Badly stacked hay bales may fall onto you.

Farmyard containers may be full of poisonous chemicals.

Farm animals are not pets. Do not go near them unless you are told by an adult that it is safe.

Tractor tyres are very heavy. If they fall they might crush you.

Slurry pits are deep and dangerous. Broken fences spell danger.

Fence-posts are heavy and may give you splinters.

Rusty nails can give you an infected cut. Tell an adult if this happens.

Never touch farm equipment that has been left lying around.